Title

Crystal Mandal

Last Edited October 19, 2026

1 Concert Report

For this Concert Report, I attended the "Tapestry of Sounds" Concert as performed by the WashU Symphony Orchestra. I attended the performance on the evening of the 16th of October.

This concert was presented as a sort of "overview" concert, with music spanning hundreds of years and many styles - in this element, I am a little disappointed with the results. The concert programme is as follows:

1. Overture to Nabucco by Giuseppe Verdi
2. Piano Concerto in A minor Op. 16 by Edvard Grieg
3. A Shelter that Filters the Sun by Armando Bayolo
4. Soirées Musicales, Op. 9 by Benjamin Britten.

Though loosely presented as an overview concert - that is, at least in title and in spirit - much of the musical material centers a 19th century European soundworld. The